1959 PORTERVILLE FAIR DATES MAY 21, 22, 23

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 27 — May 21, 22 and 23 were set as dates for the 1959 Porterville Fair when directors met Friday night at the Tea Pot Dome cafe to start planning for the community's 12th annual livestock show and fair.

Other major business of the meeting included the annual reorganization of the fair board, with all officers being reelected: A. K. "Babe" Hodgson, chairman; Bill Rodgers, vice chairman, and Rolla Bishop, secretary-treasurer.

A number of items relating to early planning for the 1959 fair were discussed during the evening meeting.

CLOUD SEEDERS ARE WORKING

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 27 — Efforts to raise funds to finance a cloud seeding program this winter have been started in eastern Tulare county by representatives of Weather Engineers, Inc., with the "blessing" of the Southern Sierra Corporation.

Actually working on the fund raising is Boyd Quate, head of Weather Engineers, Inc., assisted by John Smith and Charles Smith, of Porterville; Jim Archer, of Lindsay, and Bob Fenton, of Bakersfield.

Weather Engineers have assumed full responsibility for the cloud seeding program, including the raising of funds; all money will be administered by the Southern Sierra Corporation, a group of local ranchers, headed by Bill Cloer, of Porterville, president.

Operating with two planes, that will be based at the Porterville municipal airport, and with ground generators also, Quate has estimated cost of the proposed cloud seeding program at $30,000. Area to be covered, if sufficient funds are raised to launch the project, includes Tulare county, east of highway 99, and possibly a portion of northern Kern county — embracing approximately a million acres.

Funds are being solicited on a basis of five cents an acre for rangelands and 10 cents an acre for farmlands.

ANNE FRANK DIARY NEXT WEEK AT BARN

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 27 — "The Diary of Anne Frank" will be presented by the Porterville Barn theater and Porterville college at the Barn, starting next week, with shows scheduled for December 5, 6, 11, 12 and 13; curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

Earline Waldron of Lindsay will play the title role; others in the cast are: Tony Feliz, of Strathmore; Greta Stewart, of Strathmore; Teresa Mills, Terry Terezi, Janice Ballard, James Hanson, Al Blackburn, all of Porterville; and Ann Aglen, of Terra Bella. LeRoy King is directing the play, and is also appearing as Anne Frank's father.

A. K. HODGSON, who was re-elected chairman of the Porterville Fair board at a meeting of directors held Friday evening at Tea Pot Dome cafe. Hodgson, one of the organizers of the fair, has served continuously as chairman of the board during the 11-year history of the event.

Tuesday Bonus Goes Up Again; Is Now $177.50

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 27 — A big bonus — $177.50 — is waiting for a Tuesday bonus shopper in Porterville next Tuesday, what with last Tuesday's winner having moved from his entry blank address and thereby putting another $25 into the pot.

Hofman Shackelford was the man in question, but since he could not be located, he missed on the Tuesday Bonus.

So next Tuesday, do your Christmas shopping in Porterville's Tuesday Bonus stores, then, maybe, you will receive a gift yourself, namely $177.50.

ELROY HIRSCH WILL SPEAK AT BANQUET, TUESDAY

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 27 — Elroy Hirsch, former Wisconsin all-American and for many years one of the nation's leading professional players as a member of the Los Angeles Rams, will be the guest speaker at the annual banquet.

Thanksgiving

This oldest festival, dating from the heroic age of America, is the best expression of our national spirit.

It combines into one conception productive enterprise, domestic felicity, and religious devotion.

Thanksgiving day represents the fruits of industry turned to family festivity and sanctified by prayer.

It was instituted by men of culture and women of refinement, who showed themselves willing to suffer persecution, imprisonment, banishment from the comforts of an English home, exile across the sea, cold, hunger, pestilence, and death for their principles.

Those principles are today the richest treasure and the brightest hope for humanity.

They are the stuff of which heroes were made and by which a nation was nurtured to its manhood.

These three principles are the legacy which that heroic age has bequeathed to us, its heirs: self-government in the state, freedom for the church, good will toward mankind.

Let us cherish these principles, for in them lie the essence, the beauty, the strength of American institutions, and the warrant of their perpetuity.

Mid-West Corn Growers Kill Controls

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 27 — Mid-western corn growers voted out the government control program this week by a resounding 246,475 to 100,064, with 25 of 26 states classed as commercial corn producers going against continuation of the federal farm program.

As a result, farmers can now raise all the corn they want to; however, support price on corn drops to 65 per cent of parity.

From the political approach, the mid-west vote is considered to be a victory for Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, since he has constantly worked toward lower parity and less acreage control.

From the agricultural standpoint, it is likely that more corn

City Election Filing Opens January 17

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 27 — Filing period for Porterville city council candidates opens January 17 and extends to February 7, with election date on April 2. Terms of two councilmen expire next year: Dr. P. H. McKay and Jack Natzke.

Other items along the avenue include: Considerable talk about retaining the name of Plano, instead of Grevilla, on the road that carries both names as it runs through the east side of Porterville and on south.

Zeb Young plans the grand opening of his new Eagle club, Saturday; a team of visiting photographers is now working Porterville, house to house. Beware, beware.

Location is half-way between Springville on the new highway 190, near the old Wardlaw place. The shoot will continue all day.

FIELD WORK UNDERWAY AT TEA POT DOME

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 27 — Field surveys are now being conducted in the Tea Pot Dome Water district to develop necessary information for use in determining final design plans for a water distribution system that will be constructed within the district through utilization of a federal, interest-free loan of $1,800,000.

Ten men from the U.S. bureau of reclamation are now working in the district gathering field data on pipe line alignment and elevations to determine pump requirements.

The project will be handled by bureau of reclamation engineers.

CAMP ISSUE STILL ALIVE AT SPRINGVILLE

SPRINGVILLE, Nov. 27 — Apparently the question of whether or not the community of Springville wants an honor prison setup established there, and whether or not the state and county are still considering a site near Springville is still open to debate.

Tuesday night directors of the Springville chamber of commerce tabled a motion by which the chamber would call a public meeting to discuss various aspects of the proposed prison camp. There is, however, still talk of a meeting.

TAKE IT EASY, BOYS, TAKE IT EASY

Just to keep the record straight — the city of Porterville was not trying to deal a death blow to agriculture with its "No" vote in the recent Tea Pot Dome Water district election, in which property owners within the district ran up a "Yes" vote of 216,980 to a total "No" vote of 5,000 to go ahead with the securing of an interest-free federal loan for $1,800,000 and constructing of a water distribution system.

But since some farmers in the district have expressed extreme displeasure at the official city of Porterville "No" vote, perhaps a bit of background resume is in order.

In the first place, the city got into the act because it owns a very small piece of property within the district — just off the end of one of the municipal airport runways. This ownership entitled the city to vote.

Now, the astronomical election results came from the system of voting used in a water district — an individual votes on a basis of the assessed value of his property; one vote for each dollar of value.

Because of this, a ballot for each voter is prepared in advance, the ballot stating the number of votes that the individual voter is entitled to cast. On election day, the individual voter picks up his ballot, stamps his preference, and that's it.

Except, the ballot is not secret. At the Tea Pot Dome election, voting was conducted on an office table with anyone who cared to, looking on.

This is strictly legal in a water district, for, after all, it's easy enough to tell how an individual voted when the ballots are counted, since each ballot has a specific number of votes written on it, probably no two ballots are the same, and ballots and names must check out.

So everyone, simply everyone, knew that City Manager Charles Cummings voted "No" for the city of Porterville, which brought the opposition total to two individuals.

But contrary to some comment, Mr. Cummings did not vote on his own; he voted just as he had been instructed to vote by members of the Porterville city council, who he polled as to their preference before he voted for the city in the district election.

Now, we assume that ranchers within the district voted in favor of securing federal money and constructing a water distribution system because they believed such a move to be of benefit to their land and consequently to them; we assume city of Porterville councilmen opposed the proposition because the city's holding is so small that the project would not benefit this land, consequently would not benefit the people of the city of Porterville.

After all, the election was called to determine what people in the district wanted; the determination was made, and that's that.

It's sort of silly for anyone to read anything more than that into the voting: To read into election results that the city was trying to kill a desirable farmers' project, or that farmers were trying to force a needless expense on the city.

But there is one serious defect: When people cast a ballot on matters of public importance, the ballot should be secret. That's a basic principle of the American Republic.

Certainly there are ways of devising a secret vote within a water district without changing the basis for voting (we can suggest one ourselves if anyone is interested.) We suppose that an act of the state legislature would be necessary to change anything in connection with water district law, and if this is true, then we strongly urge such action, for ballots that are not secret have no place in America.

But, meanwhile, let's take it easy on the Tea Pot Dome situation. No harm was done and really there's nothing wrong that a brew or two at the Tea Pot Dome cafe wouldn't fix up. Now is there?

SPEAKER FOR a Women's Day, to be observed Sunday, 10:45 worship service, at the First Christian church, will be Mrs. Ellsworth (Lillian) Lewis, who served from 1945 to 1956 with her husband in the Belgian Congo. They were located at Coquilhatville, with their four children, where she served as treasurer of the Disciples of Christ Congo Mission and Mr. Lewis served as legal representative of the same mission. This Protestant mission has five hospitals, 11 dispensaries, a system of 256 schools and 1,031 places of worship, with 84,000 Congolese as members of the churches. Women's Day is an annual observance among the Christian churches (Disciples of Christ) honoring the place of women in local, national and world-wide church work.

Everyone should let their ironing go some afternoon and take a look at the beautiful fall colors. A nice spot early in the afternoon is around Murry Park. Most important there, is to get out of your car and wander around a little. The ash, willows, liquidambar, poplars, crepe myrtle, nandina, Virginia creeper and several others are showing their best.

The yards around town are putting on quite a display with maples, tulip trees, lombardy poplars and ash the easiest to see. However, almost every yard has something to show even if it's just a pyracantha loaded with berries.

For the really ambitious, a trip along the new Springville Highway is long on beauty. Many of the native trees and shrubs do justice to fall and the river bottom is a living picture at present.

Of course we hope this will encourage you to wander down to "E" Street just north of Olive and gaze upon the beauties we have to sell. Some of the fall color has blown away but some, like the scarlet oaks, have leaves that are downright beautiful.

There are a few left-over things we would like to unload on you, like some of the earlier bulbs, Coleus, Mums, and Cabbage Plants. However, knowing you're still living on left-over turkey, we won't try too hard. We do recommend a little gardening along about Sunday to work off that second piece of pie. We have shovels, rakes, and other garden tools guaranteed to remove "five" pounds. If nothing else, the prices will scare it off you. Come see for yourself.

By BILL RODGERS

RENAMING OF streets within the city of Porterville, and in the area adjacent to the city limits is a commendable move, since it will eliminate the confusion that exists when the same street has two, or sometimes more, names in various areas.

HOWEVER, THE proposal to retain the name of Grevilla and drop the name of Plano on the road that runs through the east side of Porterville should be further considered, for the name of Grevilla has no particular significance to the community, while the name of Plano has considerable historical importance.

ACTUALLY, VANDALIA was the oldest village in the Tule river area, according to Miss Ina Stiner, Porterville's historical authority, there being a post office there in 1859 and a school in 1861. Vandalia was located virtually on what is now the bank of the present Tule river, about where the Plano bridge is located.

IT WAS along about 1864, when Porterville was just coming into being, that people in Vandalia began moving back away from the river toward higher ground, settling to the south at what became known as, and is still known as, Plano.

THEN CAME a period of intense rivalry between the communities of Plano and Porterville, each seeking the new railroad and each trying to attract new citizens. R. Porter Putnam offered a free lot to anyone who would put a building on it, and houses were moved from Plano to Porterville; the railroad finally came into Porterville and missed Plano; because of a combination of several factors, Porterville, rather than Plano, finally emerged as the principal town of the area.

BUT THOSE old days were stirring days, and the name of Plano deserves a place in community history. Vandalia is still commemorated by a school, a road and a cemetery. The name of Plano might well be forgotten in the years ahead, unless it is preserved by retention of the road name.

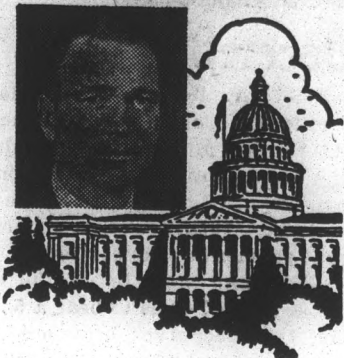

PLANO DESERVES a better fate than to fade into oblivion when it can now be preserved, as a historical name, by the simple procedure of changing a couple of marks on a piece of paper.

HUFF APPEARS AS SOLOIST

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 27 — Arthur Huff, vocal instructor at Porterville high school, was tenor soloist for the presentation of the Mendelssohn oratorio, "Hymn of Praise," at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Burlingame last weekend.

32nd District
California State Legislature

A proposal for an educational program in the public schools on the dangers of narcotics made at a recent legislative hearing in Sacramento drew less than enthusiastic support from many expert witnesses. The joint meeting of the Senate interim committee on narcotics and the subcommittee on narcotics of the Assembly public health committee received testimony from psychiatrists, educators, police and correctional authorities.

Most witnesses agreed that adolescent narcotics addiction is a growing problem in California as well as the whole nation, and that its dangers are still greatly underemphasized. They were also in accord that addiction is a psychiatric and medical problem, though selling narcotics is still primarily a concern of law enforcement agencies.

Psychiatric groups who were represented at the two day hearing united in supporting a suggestion for a five year pilot study of adolescent narcotics addiction. Their spokesmen said that too little is known about the underlying causes of addiction, despite the many years of medical experience in coping with it. Present long range treatment programs are not very successful, they declared. Few addicts are really cured of the habit, probably because few want to be. They hoped the pilot study might develop information concerning the basic reasons for acquiring the habit, and so help the discovery of effective treatment measures.

The legislative group was informed that 16 appears to be the most vulnerable age for the experimentation which leads to addiction. Therefore, junior high school is the proper level at which to direct educational efforts. Because a sizeable proportion, possibly 20 percent, of adolescents might have their curiosity aroused to the point of trying them if educational efforts on the dangers of narcotics are emphasized, it was strongly urged that such efforts be kept unemotional. Actual facts should be stressed, it was recommended, but they should not be magnified or made frightening.

Witness also reported that though the State education law now requires that instruction in the dangers of alcohol, tobacco and narcotics be given in all schools, it does not appear to be too effective. A total of only one and a half hours are devoted to the narcotics problem, the legislators were told. Several educators commented that before a program to educate students is begun, the teachers who will give the instruction need to be properly indoctrinated.

Still another recommendation was submitted at the hearing. The legislators were urged to propose the establishment of an independent study commission with adequate representation of all interested groups to develop and sponsor an educational program for adolescents on the dangers of narcotics. Such a formal body would be more effective than dependence upon voluntary cooperation between the various interests, it was declared.

Spokesmen for one large fraternal organization reported that its members are circulating petitions all over California calling for the legislature to enact stiffer penalties on narcotic selling. Three-quarters of a million signatures have already been obtained, it was stated.

It was indicated that the Senate and Assembly committees will continue to cooperate in their study of the narcotics evil.

CLEMMIE GILL PROPERTY ACCEPTED FOR IMPROVEMENT AS SCICONSCHOOL

VISALIA, Nov. 27 — A deed to 40 acres of forest land for a Tulare county sciconschool was accepted as a donation from Mrs. Clemmie Gill of Springville at a special meeting of the Tulare county board of education last week.

This land, situated near the confluence of Rancheria and Bear creeks at an elevation of approximately 2,000 feet is considered ideal for the school site. Executive board members say it is ideal in terms of fauna, flora and opportunities for science and conservation activities.

According to provisions of the deed, the land has to include the name of Clemmie Gill, and reasonable use of the land has to be made within seven years. Also, this land shall not be used for prison camp or the like, or any type of a corrective institution.

At a meeting of the Sciconschool executive board Wednesday, Charles Rich, superintendent of the school, announced that a large wash house and several tent platforms had been donated by Mrs. Roland Killian of Springville. It was decided to move these items to the property as soon as possible. It is not known whether the school can be held at the new site next year, however, it is the intention of the board to improve the site as soon as possible.

Ernest Jackson, chairman of the evaluation committee, reported that the Sciconschool school session completed this fall had proved to be highly successful. Practically every youngster in the sixth grade class going from Visalia, Ivanhoe, Dinuba, Orosi, Earlimart and Terra Bella attended, the only exception being those with physical ailments. Children who attended are still carrying on a follow-up program with a great deal of enthusiasm.

Range feed conditions in California are generally well above average, however, most areas are suffering from results of the warm fall and now need rain.

County Tax Deadline Is December 10

VISALIA, Nov. 27 — Tulare County Tax Collector J. A. Janelli has warned property owners that they have approximately 10 working days until the deadline date of December 10th for first installment payment on county taxes.

"Payments must be in the office, or mailed so as to bear a 5:00 p.m. December 10th postmark, to avoid the imposition of a flat 6% penalty on the first installment amount," Janelli said.

Collections to November 20th totaled $1,990,642.31 as compared to the total tax bill this year of $17,580,008.90.

Janelli expressed concern over the number of property owners who have not yet received their tax bills, as is indicated by the unusual number of bills that had been returned marked "moved, no forwarding address."

"If a property owner has acquired property since March, 1958, and has not yet received his bill, he should contact the office immediately," Janelli said.

"We also have several bills that have been returned by banks and insurance companies, who had previously paid taxes on the property, with the notation, 'Loan closed'. If you have finished paying for your home, or have transferred your loan, check to be sure that your taxes will not go delinquent."

Janelli's office, located in the east wing of the main floor of the new courthouse, in Visalia, is open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

SUPERVISORS' PICTURES COLLECTED

VISALIA, Nov. 27 — Pictures of all former supervisors of Tulare county are now being gathered for display in a prominent place in the new county courthouse.

Persons having pictures of supervisors of former years should contact the county chamber of commerce in Visalia, or Rodgers L. Moore, or Ray Longley, present local area supervisors.

Among early-day supervisors who served from the southern Tulare county area were: Peter Goodhue, William Packard and William Campbell, before 1860; W. M. Donnelson, elected in 1862; Riley Jordan, 1865; C. R. Worland, 1866; E. H. Baker, 1874; J. H. Grimsley, 1877; L. J. Redfield, 1880; T. E. Henderson, 1884, and Robert Horbach, 1908.

California will harvest 9,900 tons of Popeye food — spinach — during the present season, compared to 2,500 tons last year.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Note to readers: Thanks for all the nice letters. As many questions as possible will be answered in this column, but for obvious reasons replies must be brief.

Q. "What is the best way to remove superfluous hair on the lip and chin?"—No name.

A. The only way to permanently remove unwanted hair is to destroy the hair root. If hair growth is extensive, the dermatologist (skin doctor) may use an electric needle. This may require several trips to the doctor's office. Lip and chin hair can, of course, be shaved.

Q. "Do bleeding hemorrhoids (piles) ever go into cancer?"—O.E.

A. No. Hemorrhoids can be very distressing but the condition itself does not lead to cancer. However—and this is very, very important—rectal bleeding from any cause calls for an examination by a physician. The bleeding may just be due to hemorrhoids or it may be due to something far more serious.

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician. Questions directed to Dr. J. D. Ralston, Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Square Station, N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

From Thanksgiving to New Year's, the party mood is epidemic. Certainly one of the most pleasant parts of the holiday season is the opportunity to entertain old and new friends at your own festive board. Cookies are an absolute must for these special times and Santa's Jelly Fingers make ideal nibbling when guests drop by to see your tree.

Made with nut-toasty rolled oats, Santa's Jelly Fingers are a simple rich cookie that is a favorite with so many people. The dough for each "finger" is shaped, dipped into egg white and rolled in chopped nuts. Make an imprint down the center of each and fill with a spoonful of bright red jelly. With Santa's Jelly Fingers on hand, you are ready for those "anytime guests" who drop in for a friendly visit.

Santa's Jelly Fingers Makes 3-1/2 dozen cookies

1 cup butter or margarine, soft
1 cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)

3/4 cup brown sugar
1 egg yolk
2 cups sifted enriched flour

1/4 teaspoon salt

Beat butter until creamy; add sugar gradually, beating well. Add egg yolk. Sift flour with salt; add to butter mixture. Blend in oats. Chill dough.

Shape dough into ovals, about 1-1/2 inches long. Dip each into egg white; then roll in chopped nutmeats. Place on ungreased cookie sheets. Press indentation along center of each with finger. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 10 minutes. Remove from oven for a moment to press indentation again. Return to oven for about 5 additional minutes. Cool slightly; fill indentation with jelly.

Decoration:
1 egg white, slightly beaten
1 cup finely chopped nutmeats
Currant or raspberry jelly
